Accelerating local development in the Caribbean, East Africa and UK through community action and innovation

Join us to hear from communities taking action and finding innovative solutions to the problems of drinking water and soil pollution from small islands in the Caribbean, to tribal communities in the water towers and forests of east Africa to communities in the Highlands and Islands of Scotland...

Participate in dialogues with leading researchers about how ICT and entrepreneurship are flourishing in these communities...

Discover amazing technological solutions to the circular economy using waste glass to clean drinking water and recover the arid lands of Africa...
